(Above: first warning credit on the Adventures of Priscilla DVD release, where the film was provided as an extra. The text isn’t correct. While the documentary might have been intended for the original 1994 theatrical release, it carries a copyright notice for 1995 and was first screened on ABC Television that year, long after the original theatrical release of Priscilla. The film was in fact funded as a conventional documentary by the FFC as part of its agreement with the ABC to jointly fund a certain number of documentaries each year for screening in allocated ABC slots).
